MEDUSA BEHEADED

6 September, 2022

Tried replicating the Medusa tattoo design by @demiurgtattoo on Instagram.

It took me around 5 hours on an A4 sheet, using just a black ball pen and black marker.

The artwork shows the moment when Perseus beheaded Medusa, one of the most dramatic and retold scenes in Greek mythology.

HRIDAY THAKUR

As an artist, I like experimenting with different mediums every time I start something new. For me, art is as much about exploration as it is about the final piece. Sometimes it's ball pen and marker, sometimes paints, sometimes something entirely different—I enjoy the challenge of adapting to new tools and techniques. It keeps the process exciting, helps me grow, and makes every piece feel like a unique journey rather than just a repetition of the last. Art is something I do whenever I feel like creating something, an idea would randomly pop up in my head and I will have to draw it then and there, no breaks, just gotta keep on going until i reach perfection.

EYE CONTACT

They look away, but their silence sings. Every stroke, every gaze — is a verse from a forgotten song.

SUNLIT FOREST

A serene forest path glows with golden sunlight piercing tall trees, blending dark canopies with vibrant greens. The oil pastel colours evoke hope and renewal, inviting contemplation through soft hues, delicate shadows — a nature-inspired atmosphere.

AISHA AIJAZ

I am an artist driven by exploration, continually experimenting with diverse mediums and forms.

Currently, my practice is centered on charcoal, drawn to its raw texture and expressive depth.

For me, art functions as both therapy and a medium of emotional clarity.

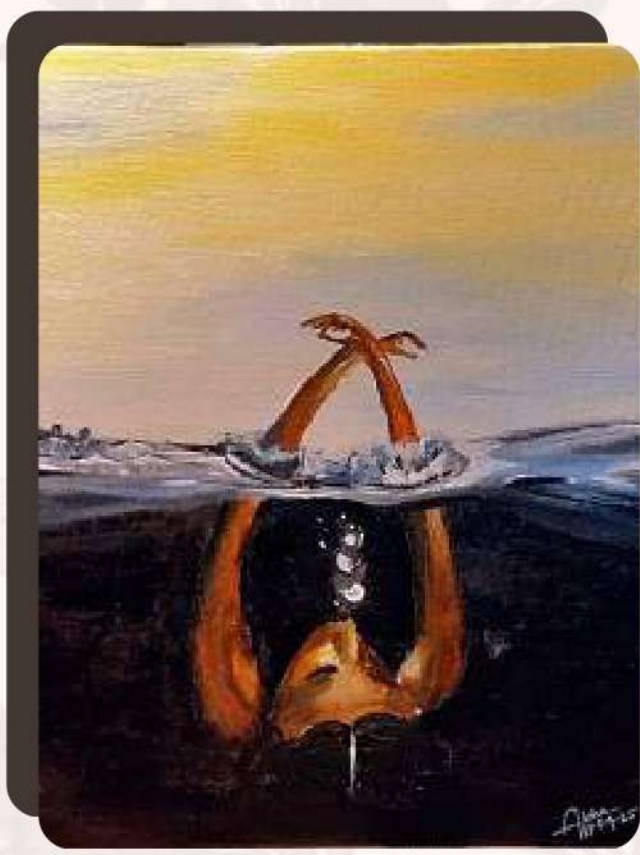

It remains a constant refuge, offering space to reflect and create beyond the world's noise.

BENEATH THE SURFACE

On the surface, the world notices only a splash—quick, fleeting, almost ordinary. But just below, the waters carry a different story, one that can't be seen at first glance. Every dive is not an attempt to escape, but a step toward something more profound. It's a journey inward—through silence, depth, and reflection—toward truly finding herself.

Acrylic on Canvas

AKRITI AGRAWAL

A Madhubani-inspired artwork reflecting the serene beauty of a half-veiled woman. The intricate patterns highlights culture, tradition, and silent strength.

ASHIKA GUPTA

This artwork beautifully portrays Lord Ganesha, the remover of obstacles and the symbol of wisdom, prosperity, and new beginnings. The intricate detailing in the crown and ornaments highlights fine craftsmanship, while the calm expression of Ganesha radiates peace and positivity. Holding a lotus in one hand, the image signifies purity and spiritual growth. The subtle yellow background enhances the divine aura, making the artwork both traditional and contemporary in appeal.

HEENA GOYAL

This pen-and-ink artwork frames a serene mountain landscape within a crescent moon. The piece contrasts swirling, chaotic patterns on the moon with the calm beauty of pagodas, forests, and sharp peaks inside. Waves and clouds add movement around the stillness, creating an East Asian aesthetic that feels like a meditative portal where nature, architecture, and imagination meet.

NISHTHA PRIYA

As an artist, I love exploring new forms, though I'll admit, I sometimes leave a few creative experiments unfinished. But that's the beauty of art: it's about trying, exploring, and learning through the process. This piece reflects growth as a journey—embracing change, mistakes, and the small transformations that shape who we are. For me, every artwork is a step forward, a reminder that creativity is less about the final product and more about the courage to keep evolving.

METAMORPHOSIS

An exploration of transformation as a living process. Blooming, dissolving, and reshaping in constant motion. It reflects the fragile yet powerful beauty of transition, where growth and decay coexist reminding us that nothing is ever static.

It is a meditation on impermanence—on how every form, no matter how fleeting, carries within it the possibility of becoming something new.

GLASS OF LIFE

Medium: Acrylic on Canvas

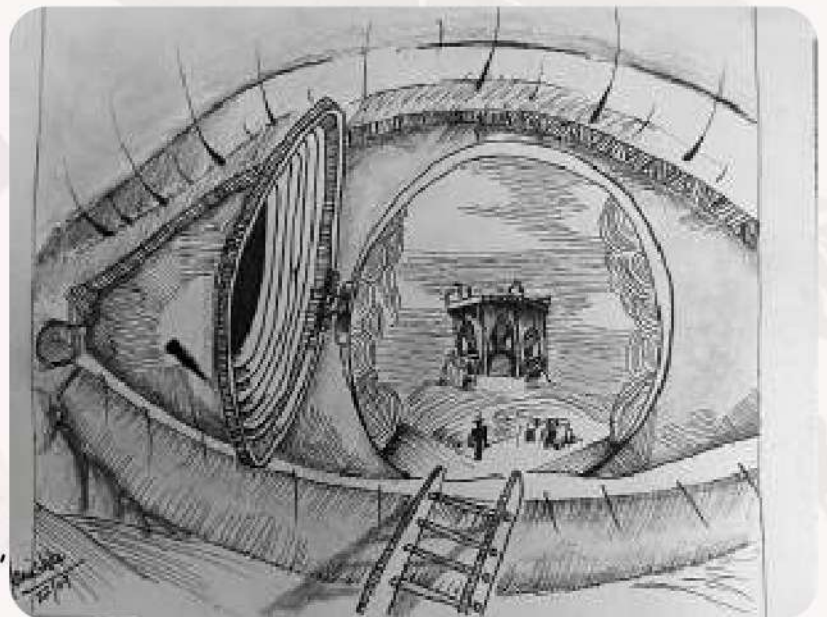

Date: 10.05.25

This artwork reimagines a simple glass of drink as a celebration of color, form, and geometry. The angular patterns of the background merge with the faceted reflections inside the tumbler, blurring the line between realism and abstraction. Warm amber tones of the liquid contrast against cool blues and greens, while the slice of orange perched on the rim adds a playful freshness. The composition, influenced by cubist and modernist aesthetics, transforms an everyday object into a bold, rhythmic visual statement.

KANISHKA

This piece reflects the idea that every eye holds a universe within. Through lines and perspective, it shows how vision is not just sight, but a gateway to untold stories and hidden worlds.

SHREYA VERMA

I'm a curious and moody creator, I explore art without limits blending styles, experiment with forms, and turn my imagination into expression. Every piece is a journey, every stroke a story. I love pushing boundaries, discovering new techniques, and letting creativity lead the way. For me, art is not just about visuals it's about emotions, ideas, and endless possibilities.

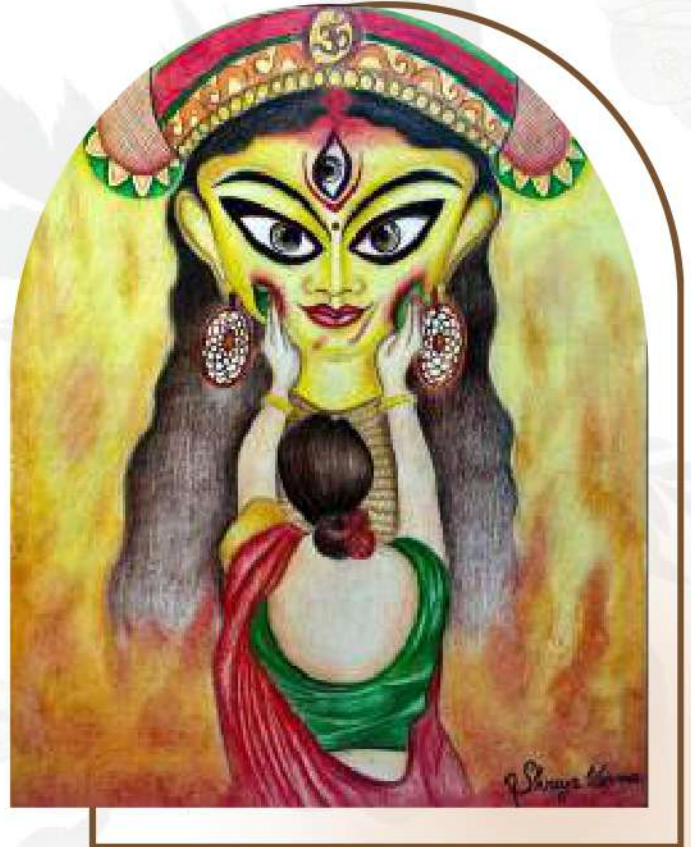

SHRADDHĀTARĀ SHAKTI (श्रद्धातरा शक्ति)

Meaning:

Shraddhātarā (श्रद्धातरा) is a poetic Sanskrit compound meaning "One who is guided by deep devotion".

Shakti (शक्ति) means divine feminine power, energy, and strength — often personified as Goddess Durga.

✦ This artwork, made with pencil colors on an A4 size chart, portrays a devotee gently holding the face of Maa Durga. The vibrant colors of red, green, and yellow bring life to the piece, reflecting strength, spirituality, and warmth. Every stroke captures the tender reverence and deep devotion in the devotee's gaze, as if seeking blessings and protection from the Goddess. It reflects the pure bond of love, respect, and strength shared between the worshipper and the Goddess. The warm tones and intricate detailing bring out both divinity and emotion, evoking a sense of peace, faith, and spiritual connection. This piece is not just art—it is a heartfelt expression of surrender, gratitude, and the eternal bond between the human soul and the divine.

CHAHAT GAUTAM

This charcoal artwork beautifully captures the expressive features of young girl.. wide eyelashes, shining eyes, her side gaze... which beautifully attracts attention towards her. Flowing dark hair which have been carefully depicted using charcoal frames her face.

Ananya Jaiswal

Colors of Loneliness explores emotions that to some may seem like despair, yet to me, they represent quiet moments of introspection. It is in this stillness that thoughts unfold and light emerges. Through this piece, I capture the subtle beauty found within solitude.

ARUSHI THUKRAL

This artwork is a vibrant painting of Lord Krishna and Radha in a traditional Indian folk-art style. It symbolizes love, divinity, and nature. It is painted by acrylic colours on a 320 gsm canvas sheet.

HARSH RAJ

The painting shows Maa Durga's fierce form, with her third eye and flowing hair symbolizing cosmic power. In her earring, Lord Shiva is depicted resting, signifying the divine balance of Shakti (energy) and Shiva (consciousness). Her intense gaze reflects the triumph of good over evil, while the intricate details evoke the eternal harmony of creation and destruction. The artwork captures both her protective strength and the profound spiritual energy she embodies.

ARUNIMA AGRAWAL

This piece captures an intimate embrace between two figures, one composed of stars and cosmic light.

It symbolizes the connection between human emotion and the universe, blending warmth with infinite mystery. Through its ethereal imagery, the artwork evokes love, longing, and the beauty of intangible bonds.

PRIYANSHI BHATI

This artwork depicts Lord Krishna and Radha, symbolizing eternal love, devotion, and spiritual unity. Using vibrant colors and fine detailing, I aimed to capture their divine bond—Krishna with his iconic blue complexion and peacock feather, and Radha adorned with grace and elegance. The piece reflects harmony, affection, and the beauty of divine companionship in Indian culture and mythology.

SURYANSH BHARDWAJ

My artwork reflects a realistic style, created with the fine detail of graphite and the depth of charcoal. It captures life-like textures and tones through these mediums.

MOHAMMAD EISA

A detailed and realistic ball pen sketch of a honey bee, capturing its delicate wings, textured body, and fine hairs with precise linework. The use of simple ink strokes brings the tiny creature to life with elegance and accuracy.

KANAK MEHRA

Medium: Acrylic on Canvas

Dimensions: 12×24 inch

Where waters carry the hush of dawn, boats become wandering prayers, and ancient steps breathe with shadows of countless lives. Temples blur into mist, as though eternity leans gently upon the river's edge. Here, stone, sky, and soul meet in a silence older than time itself.
